Hey Steve,
Could you please forward this to BNSF and Arcadis. I think it could be very informative for work moving forward on Haystack. The training is coming up quickly so I would ask for prompt responses.

Thanks,
Amanda

Hi again, both Nona and Darriel really want a rough head count. If you haven't already, could you please send the general announcement below to both your PRPs and their contractors and

- 1) Encourage them strongly to go, both for the very useful information they will learn and for the relationships goodwill and understandings they can build with the Uranium Commission and NNEPA
- 2) Ask for a headcount for a meeting in Flagstaff, a meeting in ABQ, and their preference.
- 3) Ask for a response ASAP.

Hi everyone, Nona will be putting on a cultural sensitivity training for PRPs and contractors. I also think as many of us as possible should go as well. As she described at the MAAT meeting, this will help contractors and others working on the Navajo Nation better understand cultural issues, working near people's houses and in their grazing areas, getting access, appreciating how to care for the land, plants, and animals as we do our work, talking with Chapter officials and Navajo government officials, etc.

Please forward this on as a save-the-date announcement to all the PRPs and contractors that you work with. Nona will follow-up with a more formal announcement and description soon.

It will be November 14 in either Flagstaff or Albuquerque to make travel easy.

I don't, but I'll ask the PRPs that I work with. What is the date? Have you sent out any announcement? I was waiting for an announcement or description to tell the PRPs.

Hi Mark,

Do you have an idea how many PRPs and contractors will attend the Cultural Sensitivity Training? I'm looking for venue and need a ballpark number.

Thanks, Nona
